LAFCU appoints Amy Parker as AVP accounting

LANSING, Mich. — LAFCU has announced the promotion of Amy Parker as assistant vice president of accounting.

In this new position, Parker oversees accounting functions and accounting audits, ensures regulatory compliance related to accounting, and assists in the development of new products and services.

“Amy’s demonstrated knowledge and expertise will continue to benefit members as she takes a larger role in meeting LAFCU’s many fiduciary requirements, maximizing the credit union’s operational efficiencies and helping provide quality financial services,” said LAFCU CEO Patrick Spyke.

Parker said, “Finance and accounting are my passions and where I have dedicated 11 years of my career. I’m continually energized by applying those passions to meet the changing needs of our members.”

The Charter Township of DeWitt resident has gained experience in many areas since joining LAFCU in 2006. She most recently served as accounting manager for three years. She has also worked in data analysis, corporate education development, internal bookkeeping and the call center, and was head teller at the main branch office.

Parker has earned the elite designation of Accredited ACH Professional (AAP) from the National Automated Clearing House Association, which manages the electronic movement of money and data that support deposits and payments in the U.S. and across international borders. She has a bachelor’s degree from Michigan State University and an associate degree from Lansing Community College. She is a graduate of Bath High School.
